

Student Policies and Conduct

E School is a place to explore your interests, enhance your skills, and excel. Here you'll find the policies and expectations to help you navigate your academic experience.

Academic Policies

Find what you need to enroll in and complete a program: Enrollment Policies for Students

Find what you need to enroll in and complete a program: Enrollment Policies for Students

Earning a degree at E-School requires maintaining good standing: Academic Standing Requirements for Programs students will find enrollment and minimum grade policies at Pursuing the Certificates. See what types of exams you may have to take, as well as policies on missed exams and how to request transcripts: Exam Types and Policies

Learn how to view your grades, what your grades mean, and our policies on non-completion grades: Grades

Learn how to view your grades, what your grades mean, and our policies on non-completion grades: Grades

If you're transferring to another school, be sure to read our policies on transferring your credits: Transfer Credits and Accreditation

Student Conduct

Our mission is to make the benefits of a rigorous academic experience accessible to all students. Honesty, civility, respect, and academic integrity play a vital role in maintaining our high standards of excellence. When you join our community you accept these values and agree to meet our expectations and adhere to our student conduct policies.

The E-School has a set of clear Expectations for all registered students that center around responsible behavior regarding the creation and maintenance of their student records and contact information; in-person and virtual classroom participation; interactions with instructors about grades; and program application submissions.

In addition, students are expected to show good judgment at all times. They are to conduct themselves honestly, and with due respect and consideration for others while enrolled in E-School, on Virtual University property, and in all their interactions and communications with their fellow members of the VU community. Students who violate the conduct policy (listed here and on Expectations) are adjudicated by the Administrative Board and may be subject to disciplinary action.

Conduct Concerns

Concerns regarding student conduct that are brought before the Administration Board include, but are not limited to, inappropriately behaving toward or communicating with University faculty, staff, or fellow students; misrepresentations of any kind, including University affiliation as well as prior academic or professional experience; disturbing orderly academic functions and processes; violating the rules and regulations of any University department; or the unauthorized use of University facilities or equipment.

The Board also reviews the actions of students charged with altering or falsifying academic records; the unauthorized recording, sale, or purchase of lectures or other instructional materials; destroying or defacing University property; harassment; fraud; infringing on the rights of others; or the unlawful possession, use, or distribution of drugs and alcohol.

E-School expects students to understand and maintain high standards of academic integrity.

Students are not permitted to use the VU name except under certain circumstances.

Please note that because students are expected to show good judgment at all times, not every kind of misconduct or behavioral expectation is listed in this section.

Additional Policies

Learn more about:

- Changes to programs, courses, or academic schedules
- Weather and emergency cancellations
- The rights and regulations of our students